Keep Smiling!

Once again, (as I write this in the middle of September), we are seeing more measures being put in place to control the corona virus. It's difficult to know (and depressing to think about) what will happen next, so in the meantime I hope all our readers are able to stay safe and well, and that all have been able to enjoy the late summer / early autumn sunshine. The weather certainly has been trying to lift our spirits—long may it continue! The latest restrictions at time of going to press are on page 12, but do be aware these may have changed by October.

If you have an article that you think would lift people's spirits then please get in touch—we would love to include some items that make us smile.

Many thanks to Mike Macey for this month's cover image. If you have a suitable picture for the front of the magazine please do get in touch, we'd love to hear from you!

Stay well, stay alert and keep smiling!

Hockwold cum Wilton Parish Council

8th September 2020

Present: Mrs L. Randall, Mrs R. Johns, Mrs R. Morgan, Mrs A. Marsden,
Mrs T. Sismey, Mrs I. Sullivan, Mr S. Monsey-Cribb
Councillor Martin Storey

Hilary Cox – Parish Clerk

Apologies: Mr S. Turner

The Parish Council has a vacancy for a councillor. If you are interested in applying for this role, please see detailed information in the magazine.

Apologies if you have been looking for updates on the Parish Council's Facebook page – I'm afraid it has been corrupted and we have met great difficulties in setting up another page, but we will keep trying. In the meantime councillors will try to share any urgent information. Whilst on the subject of Facebook, please remember that it is all very well posting messages about anti-social behaviour in the village, whether it be on the playing field or the Lode, but this will not prompt any police action. The best way to report anti-social behaviour is to contact the police by dialling 101. It is not the fastest procedure in the world, but we cannot complain about the lack of police presence when something is going on if we don't report it. With no reports, it will seem as if everything is OK in Hockwold!!

With Main Street roadworks continuing, all attempts to survey HGV traffic through the village have once again been postponed and we will try to start again during October.

A recent allotment inspection highlighted that a small number of the allotments required some tidying before renewal contracts could be issued but the majority of allotmentees will shortly receive their contracts, along with the newly produced Allotment Handbook.

Thanks to Leanne Clayton and her band of helpers for giving up their time at the beginning of the month to pick up litter around a large part of the village, inspired by the Great British September Clean Up. The routes undertaken included St Peter's Churchyard, South Street, Main Street, Malts Lane, Nursery Lane, Church Lane, the Lode and St James's Churchyard. It's rather disappointing that, included in the collection, were one or two discarded face masks, found in Main Street!!

It is rare for a Parish Council meeting agenda not to include the noise from Murfitts Industries and so, once again, it was up for discussion as it continues to cause problems for many parishioners. We have not given up, though at the moment, our complaints seem to be falling on deaf ears, and so, it is important that if you are having sleepless nights because of the noise but you haven't yet registered your complaint, please email Jo.Reed@west-norfolk.gov.uk. We do not want to let the matter rest, just because it is complicated with two counties involved.

Please note that no alterations should be carried out on any part of the Lode unless authorised by the Lode Advisory Committee (LAC) or the Parish Council. All work will be carried out by the LAC (identifiable by their 'hi viz' jackets) unless otherwise arranged by the Parish Council. Please report to the Parish Clerk if you should witness any other activity, e.g. digging pot-holes. A big thank you to the parishioners who have, off their own back, picked up litter left on the Lode over the summer. This is very much appreciated by the Parish Council and the whole Hockwold community. Thanks also to the LAC members for their continued work maintaining this special area.

Now that the nights are drawing in, please think about popping outside as it gets dark and checking that your nearest street light is working. If there is a problem, please let the Parish Clerk know, stating the location and, if possible, the number displayed on the pole. It would be good to make sure our lighting is all in order, ready for the long dark nights of winter!!

The next Parish Council meeting will be held via Zoom on Tuesday 13th October at 7.30pm

St James' Church During October

During September it was possible to thoroughly clean St James and open it for the day of the Norfolk Churches Trust Bike Ride on Saturday 12th and for a wedding on the 26th. Our thanks to Susan Annear and a small band of WI helpers who made the church look so good after its period of lockdown. Many hands certainly did make light work and it was lovely to finally let in some fresh air.

New Covid restrictions announced on Wednesday 9th September did seem to allow church services to proceed so, all being well, we hope to have a simple Said Evensong with a Harvest theme at 6.00 pm on Sunday 18th October. This will be taken by Juanita Hawthorne who is currently undergoing ordination training under Rev. Horan's guidance in the Benefice. There is a limit of 30 people in church at any one time (in groups of no more than six), masks must be worn and we are not allowed to sing but it will be a start! We are unable to have refreshments but the usual bags of onions can be ordered from Bob Young (all proceeds going to WaterAid) (Phone 01842829081). These will be delivered at a later date.

Benefice Services will continue on a rota between Feltwell and Northwold until Hockwold can join in in due course.

Sunday 4 th October:	10 am St Andrew's Northwold
Sunday 11 th October:	10 am St Mary's Feltwell
Sunday 18 th October:	10 am St Andrew's Northwold
Sunday 25 th October:	10 am St Mary's Feltwell

Please keep an eye on your News from the Pews and the Church Notice Board in case changes need to be made to these days and times after going to press. We do apologise if further restrictions become necessary in the coming weeks.

There will also continue to be a Zoom Eucharist on a Wednesday morning. Please contact Christine Parker, Benefice Administrator for details of how to access this: 01842827152 or grimshoe-beneficeoffice@gmail.com.

Finally: Don't forget your mask.

Interested In Becoming A Parish Councillor?

The Council has a vacancy for another councillor. As a Parish Councillor you will be required to attend eleven Parish Council meetings per year. These are held on the second Tuesday of each month, with the exception of July, when the meeting is held on the third Tuesday. There is no meeting held in August. There are some additional meetings held to deal with planning applications and other urgent matters that cannot wait until a regular meeting.

To be a Parish Councillor, you must be on the current electoral register. In addition, I would normally say that the use of a computer, or access to one, is preferable, for receiving Council updates, information and viewing plans. However, due to Covid 19 restrictions, all current Council meetings are virtual, via Zoom, an arrangement likely to continue well into next year. Consequently, the use of a computer is essential.

Please note that under the guidelines for the co-option of new councillors, you must be able to attend the Parish Council meeting on October 13th for a small question and answer session to help councillors decide on a suitable candidate

Should this appeal to you, please apply in writing by 3rd October, stating why you feel you would be a good choice to join the Council. Please send this to the Parish Clerk, Hilary Cox, 1 Clingos Way, Hockwold, Thetford, Norfolk IP26 4QD, or phone the Parish Clerk on 01842 339264 for any further information.

W.I.

After the governments new announcement of no more than 6 at a gathering, the National Federation of WI's has advised that all meeting to be cancelled until further notice.

Hockwold WI will keep you all informed on when the next meeting will take place, but until then please all keep safe.

October Gardening

The nights are drawing in, October will see the clocks going back, and possibly the first frosts of winter. Gardening time might feel curtailed by the shorter sunlight, however there are plenty of tasks to complete. As the leaves change into their brilliant autumn colours you realise that winter is just around the corner.

Top Tip: Collect leaves to make leaf mould, an invaluable soil conditioner. Collect leaves from the lawn using a mower, as this not only shreds the leaves and hastens rotting but also adds grass clippings, so increasing the nutrient value of the leaf mould. Place the leaves into a bin liner, moisten them if they are dry, then pierce holes in the bag with a knife or garden fork, tie the top loosely and stack the bags out of sight for up to two years.

10 minute jobs:

Protect half-hardy plants with fleece, or move into a frost-free greenhouse.

Lift Dahlia & Begonia tubers to store dry over winter

After tidying borders mulch with bark chips or compost.

Wrap glue bands around the trunks of apple trees to trap winter moth females whose caterpillars shred spring flowers

Prune back tall shrubs such as buddleia to prevent wind rock.

Move conifers and evergreens that are growing in the wrong place.

Sow Now: Directly sow hardy annuals into prepared borders for earlier flowers in 2021.

Broad beans and Winter peas can also be sown now.

Plant Now: Be ruthless, and turf out summer bedding plants (even if they are still looking good) Pansies are more likely to flower over winter if they have a chance to become established before the colder weather halts growth.

Feature on: Roses

If you give your roses some care during autumn, they will get safely through the winter, coming back healthy, vigorous and full of flowers next year.

Step 1

Snip off any soggy, shrivelled blooms to prevent rot setting in. But just remove the petals from any that are starting to form hips, so you can enjoy their winter display.

Step 2

Pick off and bin any remaining foliage that shows signs of disease, such as black spot, mildew or rust. Also collect any infected leaves that have fallen on to the ground, as these can carry over diseases from one year to the next. Don't be tempted to compost the leaves.

Step 3

Autumn is a good time to transplant any roses that are in the wrong position. You can also plant new ones, as they'll have time to get established before winter arrives. When planting the graft union should be just below the surface of the soil. If you are planting a container grown rose, fill around the root ball with compost and firm in, to dispel air pockets.

If you are planting bare root plants, ensure that the roots are not damaged as you carefully backfill with compost. We always recommend planting roses with Mycorrhizal Fungi. It helps to create better root systems, resulting in greater vigour, higher resistance to drought and more abundant flowering. The broad mix of fungi stimulates root growth, creating a secondary root system which encourages the uptake of nutrients from the soil.

Step 4

Prune out dead, damaged or crossing stems from shrub roses in autumn. Aim to create an open-centred framework to encourage good air-flow through the plant.

Step 5

Shorten the stems of tall bush roses to reduce wind-rock during winter gales, as this can loosen and damage the roots. Cut stems just above an outward-facing bud wherever possible. Thin out the heads of standard roses (shaped like lollipops, on a single tall stem). Their rounded heads can catch the wind and even snap off completely in a severe storm.

Whatever October brings I hope you're able to spend some time in your garden.

Hockwold-cum-Wilton Bowls Club

Bowls Club What Bowls Club? You may be forgiven for forgetting about us having a presence in the village. What with Lockdown, Shielding, Self-Isolation and various other restrictions, you may (or may not) have noticed that there has been no activity on the bowling green apart from the occasional grass cutting operations. It is a shame as it has been quite a good summer for spending the warm evenings leisurely competing against other clubs or our own members in our internal competitions and on BBQ days.

And unfortunately, no play means no income. With no sign of let up anytime soon on the restrictions, it is going to be very difficult to do the usual fundraising (quizzes/socials etc) or indeed any, to allow us to continue functioning, which includes paying for the necessary maintenance of the Green.

However, the immediate work required to maintain the Green over the (fast approaching) winter months, will take place on Saturday 3rd of October - if you live nearby you may wish to make a note of this date and keep your windows closed as there might be some dust flying about !

After that we can then only cross our fingers that there will be an opportunity to fundraise. If anyone has any ingenious ideas to help us in our cause, then please get in touch. It will be good to see if there are any interesting suggestions that we may not have thought of which might be feasible. Our efforts to keep Hockwold Bowls Club going will be severely tested in the next few months.

In the meantime, thanks to those that have been keeping us ticking over with their efforts to keep our Green in an 'ongoing condition'.

We hope to resume 'hostilities' in 2021.

Best regards

RECIPE—Butternut Squash Stuffed With Pesto Rice

The star of seasonal vegetables this month is the butternut squash. Tasty and hearty, it makes a delicious accompaniment to many meats, and also is a favourite among vegetarians. Kale is used here for the pesto—this is another seasonal favourite that should be flourishing on the allotment or in home veg beds now. The following dish is simple to make and ensures a hearty warming dish on these chilly October evenings.

Ingredients

2 small butternut squash, halved lengthways, seeds removed
2 garlic cloves, crushed
2 tsp chilli flakes, plus extra to serve
Light olive oil for frying and rubbing
200g basmati rice
30g dried wild mushrooms, soaked in 200ml boiling water for 30 minutes
100g feta, crumbled
50g pine nuts, lightly toasted

For the pesto

50g chopped kale
1 garlic clove, crushed
Large bunch fresh basil, roughly chopped
Large bunch fresh parsley, roughly chopped
60g parmesan-style cheese
80ml extra-virgin olive oil
Grated zest and juice 1 lemon, plus extra to serve

Method (Serves 4 as a main)

Heat the oven to 220°C/200°C fan/gas 7. Put the halved butternut squashes on a baking sheet, cut-side up, and rub the sides with the crushed garlic, chilli flakes and a little olive oil. Season, then roast for 1 hour until tender.

Meanwhile, make the pesto. Put all the ingredients in a food processor (or in 2 batches in a mini chopper) and whizz to make a rough paste. (Alternatively you can chop the ingredients finely by hand and stir together in a mixing bowl.)

Bring a pan of water to the boil and add the rice. Simmer for 12-15 minutes until just tender but still with some bite left. Drain well and transfer to a mixing bowl. Stir in the kale pesto. Strain the soaked mushrooms through a fine sieve, then add to the rice (discard any grit left behind in the sieve). Season to taste.

Divide the pesto rice among the 4 cavities of the butternut squash halves. Sprinkle over the feta, then return the filled squash to the oven for another 10-15 minutes until the cheese has turned golden and everything is piping hot.

Serve sprinkled with the toasted pine nuts, chilli flakes and a squeeze of lemon.

Enjoy!

Corona Virus -Changes In Restrictions From 14 September

On 9 September, the government announced upcoming changes to simplify restrictions and ensure the virus is controlled.

These new restrictions take effect from 14 September. Limits on the number of people you can see socially have changed. When meeting friends and family you do not live with (or have formed a support bubble with) you must not meet in a group of more than 6, indoors or outdoors. This is against the law and the police will have the powers to enforce these legal limits, including to issue fines (fixed penalty notices) of £100, doubling for further breaches up to a maximum of £3,200.

When seeing friends and family you do not live with what should you do?

- meet in groups of 6 or less
- follow social distancing rules
- limit how many different people you see socially over a short period of time
- meet people outdoors where practical: meeting people outdoors is safer than meeting people indoors because fresh air provides better ventilation

There are exceptions where groups can be larger than 6 people. These include:

- for work, volunteering or charitable services
- registered childcare, education or training
- supervised activities provided for children, youth groups and activities, and children's play-groups
- providing support to a vulnerable person
- providing emergency assistance, and to avoid injury or illness or to escape risk of harm
- for arrangements where children do not live in the same household as both their parents
- fulfilling a legal obligation, such as attending court or jury service
- wedding and civil partnership ceremonies and receptions - up to 30 people, in a public place
- funerals - up to 30 people. This does not include wakes, other than for religious ceremonial purposes
- organised sport or exercises classes or licensed outdoor physical activity. This does not include informal sport or fitness activity with family or friends - this must be limited to a group of 6
- support groups - formally organised groups to provide mutual aid, therapy or any other form of support. This includes support to victims of crime, recovering addicts, new parents, people with long-term illnesses, those facing issues relating to their sexuality or gender, and those who have suffered bereavement.
- protests - if organised in compliance with COVID-19 Secure guidance
- Where a group includes someone covered by such an exception (for example, someone who is working), they are not counted as part of the gatherings limit. This means - for example - a tradesperson can go into a household of six without breaching the limit, if they are there for work.

What are the rules at venues and activities?

As well as the exemptions above, venues following COVID-19 guidelines will be able to continue to host more people than 6. This includes places like a pub, shop, leisure activities, restaurants.

When you visit one of these places you should:

follow the limits on the number of other people you should meet with as a group - no more than six people unless you all live together (or are in the same support bubble)

avoid social interaction with anyone outside the group you are with, even if you see other people you know

provide your contact details to the organiser so that you can be contacted if needed by the NHS Test and Trace programme

THE WRITE THING TO DO

Folks aren't writing any more,
It's such a shame, and that's for sure.
For now it's tablets, phones and such,
And us older ones are 'out of touch'.

How nice it was to get a letter,
A get-well card to wish you better.
Or post-card from a foreign land,
All written by a human hand!

To hear your friendly postman's call,
And something landing in your hall.
To know that someone far away
Is taking time to cheer your day.

With news from home, where e'er it be,
That's so important to you and me.
They must know that it means so much,
If they're prepared to keep in touch.

Nowadays, I do my best,
To keep in touch like all the rest.
However, now, I must concede,
That E-Mail's easier for them to read.

But if I want to send a letter,
I print one off, and feel much better.
With spell-check helping, I cannot lose
To impress my readers with my prose.

It is a shame though, looking back
To ink in bottles, blue and black.
To pens with nibs, and blotting paper
Squeaky blackboards, and all that caper!

Now it's texts with emojis all over,
To tell your girl how much you love her.,
Nothing's personal, it's so true,
In this digital world for me and you.

So come on, people, follow me,
Write a letter and you will see
Just how much joy can then be had,
From pen and ink, and writing pad!

Frederick James
